Shaun Loney is a serial social entrepreneur and the author of two books: An Army of Problem Solvers and A Beautiful Bailout. He's senior partner at Encompass Co-op through which he advocates for a revolution in the relationship between enterprising non-profits, foundations, and governments of all levels. Outcomes Purchasing is a transformative financial tool that values the outcomes non-profits deliver, saves governments money, and directly addresses social problems and possibilities.

Not one to stand still for long, Shaun has put himself forward as a mayoral candidate in his hometown of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. His penchant for bringing people together to break down barriers and to reconfigure relationships has him drawn to cities as a nexus for social change.
