

State of Social Economy in Canada and Around the World (Podcast)

Image

For over three decades Nancy Neamtan has been on the frontlines of the social economy movement in Quebec. Nancy served as CEO of Chantier de l'économie sociale from 1996 to 2015. She contributed to the creation of international networks in which she is recognized for her expertise.

In this podcast, Nancy explores the history and state of social economy developments around the world and Canada in particular. Nancy speaks to what is happening, what the next steps are, as well as what she anticipates is possible in light of current realities. You can expect to better understand the rich soil in which social economy is growing and to be inspired by Nancy's energy and enthusiasm for what is to come.

Nancy kicks off this Buy Social Canada Social Value Marketplace podcast series by making sense of where we have been, are, and where we could go on our journey to social economy.

Nancy is a member of the Order of Canada.

This podcast is brought to you by Buy Social Canada in collaboration with Axiom News. Learn more about Buy Social Canada through their website, and follow them on Facebook and Twitter.

Listen to this and other Axiom News Podcasts on our Podbean page here.